
Cookie Policy

Our website uses cookies and similar technologies to collect data from your device. This helps us to provide you with a good experience when you browse our website and also allows us to improve our site.

All information collected by the cookies we use is anonymous and does not include any information that could identify you. If we do want to collect personal information, we will make it clear when we collect this and explain what we intend to do with it. Our Privacy Notice provides further details about how we use and safeguard your personal information.

What are cookies?

Cookies are small files that are created and stored on your computer, smartphone, tablet or other device when you visit a website. The cookies help analyse web traffic, allow web applications to respond to you as an individual and can tailor operations to your needs, likes and dislikes by gathering and remembering information about your preferences.

You can find out more about cookies and how to manage them by visiting:
<https://www.allaboutcookies.org/>

How we use cookies

We use cookies for the following purposes:

Strictly Necessary

Strictly necessary cookies are cookies that must be present for the website to provide the basic functions of the website. They are essential to be able to access features of the website. This category of cookies cannot be disabled.

Functional cookies

These cookies enable the website to provide functionality and personalisation. They may be set by us or third-party providers whose services we have added to our pages. You decide whether these cookies are used but if you do not allow these then some or all of our services may not function properly.

Performance cookies

Performance cookies are set by us or our third-party analytics providers and allow us to record certain information about you, such as the pages you visit on our website, how many times you visit our website and the links you might click on.

They help us analyse data about web-page traffic and improve our website in order to tailor it to customer needs. We only use this information for statistical analysis purposes.

The third-party analytics providers may also collect other information about you such as the type of device you are using and information about the device, your IP address and geographical location. This information can be used to create a unique fingerprint to help further identify you on other webpages you might visit and can be used to create a profile of your online activities and interests.

Performance cookies may only be set once you have given your consent to them.

Tracking cookies

These cookies record your visit to our website, the pages you have visited and the links you have followed. We will use this information to make our website and the information displayed on it more relevant to your interests. Tracking cookies may only be set once you have given your consent to them.

How can I control cookies?

You will be asked to consent to the use of our cookies when you first visit our website and will be asked for consent again periodically to ensure that you stay up to date with any changes to our Cookie Policy and Privacy Notice.

Manage Preferences: if you want to restrict or block the cookies on our site you can do this at any time by clicking here.

Browser Settings: You can set and modify your cookie preferences by activating the settings in your browser. Most web browsers allow some control of most cookies through the browser settings.

You may also be able to reset device identifiers by activating the appropriate setting on your mobile device. You will find information on the specific steps you need to take in the help or settings menu which will be slightly different for each device.

However, if you use your browser settings to block all cookies, including strictly necessary cookies, you may not be able to access all or parts of our website. Remember you can find out more about cookies and how to manage them by visiting: <https://www.allaboutcookies.org/>

Cookies in emails

As well as the cookies we use on our websites, we may also use cookies and similar technologies in some emails and push notifications. These help us to understand whether you have opened the email and how you have interacted with it. If you have enabled images, cookies may be set on your device. Cookies may also be set if you click on any link within the email.

If you would prefer for this not to happen, you should disable the automatic displaying of images via your email settings or remove us from your address book or strengthen your security settings.
